Self Evaluation

Name: Amman Soomro (19k - 1048)
Topic: Download any software on a computer.

1. Describe one thing you did well in this speech.

I demonstrated the audience on how to install and set up Microsoft Visual Studio on a computer, to start coding.

2. Describe one thing that you would change about your presentation of this speech.

I could have added more graphics in my presentation.

3. Do you feel that you provided your audience with information that they did not know prior to your speech? Explain

Yes, Visual studio is not easy-to-setup software, but now the audience knows how to install and use it for coding.

4. Was your eye contact sufficient? Why or why not? If not, how do you plan to improve your eye contact for future speeches?

I don't know much about the eye contact, since it was an online video call.
There is not much to improve in this situation, I really hope for this pandemic to be over soon.

5. Were your gestures and movements effective? Why or why not? If not, how do you plan to improve your gestures and movements for future speeches?

Effective? I don't know. Since it was a face to face video call, and a screen shared speech, there weren't many gestures and movements.
It'll be improved after this Pandemic.

6. Did you practice thoroughly for this speech. Explain?

No. I did not have to practice for the task. Since I already knew how to do it.
Only thing that consumed time was preparing the speech.

7. Overall, are you satisfied with your speech? Why or why not?

I am satisfied with the speech, since it completed the task it was supposed to. The audience now knows how to install a software.
Yet, it wasn't quite fun, as it would have been if it were really in front of the audience. But that can't happen anytime soon, due to this pandemic situation.
Overall it was a great experience.
